VII. Foundation courses assigned by the department/graduate institute (not counted toward graduation credits): A total of 6 credits 1. Cell Biology 3 credits	The subjects listed in the left column, when taken at the undergraduate level, shall not be counted toward graduation credits; however, when taken at the graduate level, they shall be included in the graduation credits.

2. Cell Biology course) 3 credits(or including 1 credit experimental course)	If a student has previously completed a similar course at the undergraduate or graduate level (excluding special topics or seminars), they may submit a request for review by the institute affairs committee with the approval of their advisor. Upon approval, the student may be exempted from taking the course, but the exemption shall not be counted toward graduation credits. The review of the subjects listed in the left column must be completed before applying for the qualification examination.
VIII. Doctoral student evaluation: Doctoral students shall, with the approval of their department/graduate institute chairs, find their advisors before the end of the first academic year.
IX. Doctoral degree candidate qualification examination: Graduate students who have completed the minimum period of study, fulfilled all required courses and credits, and prepared the outline and basic content of their degree dissertations may apply for a doctoral degree candidate qualification examination. The students are deemed to have passed the examination if at least two-thirds of the examination committee members agree so.	Students who fail their qualification examinations may not apply for dissertation defense. Those who fail the qualification examinations twice will be dismissed. According to Article 8 of the main points of homework for the doctoral class of our institute The qualification assessment must be completed before the end of the third academic year. Please download relevant precautions from our website.
X. Doctoral degree examination (dissertation defense): <ol style="list-style-type: none"> Graduate students must obtain proof showing that they have completed academic ethics education courses prior to applying for their dissertation defense. Relevant qualifications are determined by the respective departments/graduate institutes/degree programs. Students who have passed their doctoral degree candidate qualification examinations and who have completed a draft of their dissertations shall, after registering and enrolling for the semester, apply for the dissertation defense; they shall apply for the defense at least 20 days before the scheduled defense date. A passing score for the defense is 70. 	Dissertation defense score accounts for 50% of the graduation score. Graduate students may complete self-directed learning through the Center for Taiwan Academic Research Ethics Education website and shall pass the final test to obtain certification. Departments/graduate institutes/degree programs may require students to take additional professional academic research ethics training courses in accordance with their own regulations. Students who failed their dissertation defense but have not yet reached the maximum study period may register for the following academic year or semester to retake the examination once. For retakes, a passing score of 70 or above will be recorded as 70. Those who fail their dissertation defense twice will be dismissed.
